"FARM LIFE" HOLIDAY.

S of rural life, in the opinion of De-P. P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education, that the observance in the schools of one day each year as "Agriculture and Rural Life Day" should become a national holiday.

"We can do without some of our anniversaries, if need be," says Dr. Claxton. "to have time for this, the most fundashould be given an opportunity to pause now collecting city taxes for the city in their regular work and consider the denificance of agriculture and rural life; the worth and worthiness of tillage of the soil, and the beauty and glory of simple and same life in the open country." Dr. Claxton points out that in several States "Agriculture and Rural Lafe Day" has already been introduced into the schools, at the suggestion of the Bureau of Education. In other States exercises appropriate to the purpose are held in nnection with Arbor Day, Thankagiving Day or the Harvest Home celebration.

MIGHTY RIVAL OF THE POTATO V fHY the banana goes to all the trouble and expense of producing fruit is one of those things which "no fellow can find out." The object of all other plants in producing fruit is to persuade some bird or beast to carry it away and so to distribute the seed it concests.

The banana alone is entirely altruistic Those little black specs which you may discern in the pulp are supposed to be atrophied seeds, but they are about the only portion of the plant from which it re-

Aparently the banana discovered that in the tropics, with their frequent storms, it suld trust to the winds to distribute bitof itself in suitable localities, and, relyng on this for survival, gave up the habiof seeding and went on producing fruit our of pure good nature.

That it does so is a very wonderful fac: e without the banana many tropical sees of mankind, to say nothing of the nonkeys, would long ago have died out it is almost the only thing which can rive heat or the potato as a universal foor ad it grows where they do not.
